#7 The Wayne and Virginia Jervis Bible Week Lectures
Jeremy Hultin, associate professor of Biblical languages
Union Theological Seminary, New York
Rediscovering the Gospel of Luke:
Historical Investigations and Contemporary Applications
In many ways, Luke offers us a unique perspective on Jesus and the movement he inaugurated. Writing with an awareness that accounts of Jesus were proliferating, Luke sets out to tell an "orderly" account, drawing on his knowledge of both Greco-Roman literary conventions and a deep knowledge of the Hebrew Bible. Already in the opening chapters, Luke sounds his themes of social transformation and the promise of "consolation for Israel." For Luke, Jesus is, above all, a "mighty prophet" in the mold of Elijah, announcing the "favorable year of the Lord." But Luke also writes with frank acknowledgement that, in the wake of Jesus' execution, many felt that their hope that Jesus "would redeem Israel" had been disappointed (Luke 24:21).

These lectures will explore some of Luke's major themes, such as his unique treatment of wealth and social justice; the depiction of Jesus as a prophet; the relationship of Jesus and his followers to "Israel" as the one true people of God; and Luke's attempt to wrest meaning from apparent tragedy of Jesus' death.

Tuesday: Great Expectations: Luke 1-4 and the political history of Judaea
Wednesday: A Prophet Mighty in Word and Deed: Luke's Christology
Thursday: Mary has chosen the better part: Women and men in the ministry of Jesus, and in the Gospel of Luke
Friday: We had hoped that he was the one to redeem Israel: Luke's search for meaning in Jesus' Death

#14 Workshop: Enjoying Painting with Watercolors; Judson Newbern, instructor
Instruction will focus on gaining experience with basic elements that require mastery to paint with transparent watercolors. Attention will be on helping each participant define what he or she wants to capture in their choice of subject. Beginner to intermediate levels. Some drawing skills are helpful. Photographs of ranging subject matter provided for those who don't bring images. Students provide their own materials unless they arrange otherwise to purchase a kit containing basic, pigments, and paper. Goal is to have fun while increasing an understanding of how many variables come into play in creating paintings in this very expressive media - that often has a mind of its own!
$25 class fee; maximum 16; advance registration & MSSA gate ticket; reserve a kit for $40.
John Gaddis Watercolor Workshop Fund

Mon., June 22, 4 p.m. Auditorium

#15 Performance: Romeo & Juliet: A condensed adaption featuring the Eaglets

The Eaglets have a starring role in the Nashville Shakespeare Festival's fast-paced (i.e. condensed) production of the most famous love story, Romeo and Juliet. Eaglets will rehearse with the company during morning games. They will learn to stretch their dramatic abilities to portray a convincing street brawl and then, dance with the elegance of royalty in the ballroom scene. Don't miss this very "Assembly" production!

Eaglets should return to the Auditorium at 3.30 p.m. to make final preparations.

Nashville Shakes breathes new life into the most famous love story of all time. Five actors play all of the roles with the lights on, sometimes speaking directly to the audience, allowing you to be part of Shakespeare's volatile Verona. All the excitement, all the tragedy, and all the thrilling fights packed into a 75-minute experience that includes a post-show talkback with the actors.

The Barnes Family Fund

Tues. June 23, 4-5:30 p.m., Harton Hall REGISTER HERE

#19 A Guided Tour of Abbo's Alley, Sewanee
Join Mary Priestly, curator of the Sewanee Herbarium and author L.C. Fiore on a walk through Abbo's Alley. The Friday morning book lecture relates the story of German POW's who helped create the garden during their captivity. The history of Abbo's Alley closely mirrors that of the University. This will be a leisurely walk to gain an insider's view of the secret beauty of Abbo's Alley. Some footpaths are a bit uneven. Bring your nature journal if you'd like to pause and sketch or journal at any of the many spots in this lovely ravine garden. (Meet by the millstone at the entrance to Abbo's Alley on University Avenue, near the intersection with Georgia Avenue and between the ATO fraternity house and the ruins of Rebel's Rest; maps available.)

#40 Workshop: Cooking with Soul and Love
Alice Randall & Caroline Randall Williams
Creations include three recipes from Soul Food Love: a dramatic, delicious, and easy cake (perfect for summer birthdays on the mountain) with roots back to 18th century Virginia; an easy very adult dessert; and a no-fail cocktail bite—involves no gluten or meat— and looks pretty on a plate. All three of these dishes will amuse tweens to assist, have a remarkable shelf life when refrigerated, and require just a few techniques taught in the workshop. We will also share a few tips on how to turn your family recipes into a cookbook to share with your family (and maybe the world!) All participants should bring their own sharp paring knife.
$10; maximum enrollment 12; registration required
The Wallace Lecture Fund

Fri., July 10, 7:30 p.m., Warren Chapel
#41 Choral Ensemble Performance: MiContraFa,
A cappella ensemble MiContraFa took their name from the Latin phrase Mi contra fa est diabolus in musica. Loosely translated this means "the Hexachord note Mi against Fa is the devil in music." Tonight's program promises to be more tame, mostly. The vocal ensemble will offer a smorgasbord of great choral music from the Medieval to the present day. Tracing the history of choral singing through the ages is no easy task, as there are many roads that diverge through the mists of time. The survey begins in the early medieval period and attempts to touch on the choral chestnuts of the renaissance, baroque, classical, romantic, and modern period of music. Don't miss this choral time travel!

Tues., July 14, 8:15 p.m., The Auditorium
#45 Family Concert*: Bea Troxel Trio*
Nashville, Tenn., native Bea Troxel's "The Way That It Feels" is a tender little universe of an album; delicate without being saccharine, lovely without losing its element of surprise. "Talc," for one, is enough to permanently restore faith in the power of an arresting, dead simple bridge. Just when the song's sweeping guitar arpeggios and pillowy harmonies have your ear under their spell, Troxel takes a hard left, blurting out the question the song's narrator has been meticulously avoiding: "Love, do you have use for me?" She will be performing songs from this album as well as new songs written in the last year.

#55 Workshop: Exploring Sashiko, Hand-Stitching and Mending
Aaron Sanders Head, instructor
In this two-day workshop, we'll explore Sashiko and its applications as both decorative stitch work and utilitarian mending. We will be covering several stitching patterns that can be used for embellishment or for patching/reinforcement, including traditional Sashiko work and contemporary patterns designed by Aaron. We'll begin by practicing these patterns and stitches, then move to what participants have brought from home.

Participants are provided Sashiko thread, and naturally dyed fabric and thread for stitching. Bring an article of clothing or home textile (tablecloth, towel, etc.) that you would like to repair or embellish. For repair, clothing made from denim, linen and cotton work best, and try to keep the repair area under 2-3 inches across. (Note: If students have a question regarding what to bring, contact the platform office.)
$20 fee for two-day workshop; registration online or in MSSA office & MSSA gate ticket required; maximum 12

#65 Documentaries

Friday, June 12, 2:30-4 p.m., Warren Chapel
The True Cost, 2015 4.5 stars; 1 hr, 32 min., Rated PG-13
Documentary that examines the clothing industry world-wide; as the cost of clothing has steadily dropped, the human and environmental impact mounts higher.

Friday, June 19, 2:30-3:30 p.m., Warren Chapel
Why We Fight, World War II, part one
Frank Capra's Why We Fight series was the first government-sponsored documentary (aka propaganda) in the United States. Capra won an Oscar for Best Documentary in 1942. Part 1 (53 min.) is Prelude to War, and shows footage of the Japanese incursion into Manchuria and the Italian conquest of Ethiopia. Not rated, use discretion

Monday, June 22, 2:30-3:15, Warren Chapel
Part two (42 min) *The Nazis Strike, documents the advance of Hitler's armies with blitzkrieg tactics through the Rhineland, Austria, Czechoslovakia and Poland.
Not rated, use discretion

Friday, July 10, 2:30 p.m., Warren Chapel
*The Battle of San Pietro, (from the British series, The World at War) 38 minutes, Documentary made by the army for training purposes; some of the earliest footage of actual battles. San Pietro was an essential strategic location on the Allies' road to Rome. Located between two hills, it was heavily defended. It was the first time that Italian Forces joined in fighting with the Allies and resulted in an epic battle with the defeated German forces withdrawing to Cassino. Not rated, use discretion.

Friday, July 31, 10:45 a.m., Warren Chapel
The Quiltmakers of Gee's Bend, 56 minutes
This Emmy-winning, high-definition film documents a group of internationally acclaimed African-American quiltmakers from Gee's Bend, Alabama. Their compositions have been hailed by Michael Kimmelman of The New York Times as "some of the most miraculous works of modern art America has produced." The Quiltmakers of Gee's Bend explores the extraordinary lives, inspirations, and history of these artists, and follows them on a touching bus journey to see their quilts exhibited at The Milwaukee Art Museum.

Please note that all registration policies apply to youth events.

Weeks 1-8

Wednesdays & Thursdays, 9:15–9:45 a.m., Warren Chapel

#Y1 Harmony Bell Choir

Assembly member Pam Maloof is the instructor.

Using a "harmony" bell system, children create beautiful music by using color coded cards with accompanying CD music. The goal is to encourage a love of creating music at an early age.

Ages 3-8 (and interested parents, too!)

No fee; no sign up required.

Mon., June 8, 3:30-4:30 p.m. meet outside the Snack Shop

#Y2 Eaglets BirdieBall Golf: Dewey Hammond, instructor

The workshop continues once a week through the season alternating every two weeks between Eagles and Eaglets. Sign up on Auditorium bulletin board.

A fun way to learn about golf and the basics of a good swing. Participants play a variety of games hitting BirdieBalls toward a target. BirdieBalls are lighter and travel shorter than golf balls, but for more advanced players, longer distances that simulate shots up to 175 yards are possible. Wear comfortable clothes, tennis shoes for traction (no flip-flops). If a player has golf clubs, bring a 9-and/or 7-iron. Coach will have various sizes of clubs suitable for children ages 6+, as well as adult clubs for older children or parents.

#Y3 Youth Tennis: Games and Drills to promote a love of the game; weeks 1-8

No fee. Registration each Monday at the Auditorium 9:30-10:00 a.m.

J.R. Ankney received his B.M. Ed from Berklee College of Music, Boston, before the earth cooled. He completed his undergraduate degree because he realized that he was not going to be the next Charlie Parker, and therefore ought to have some degree attached to his name to be employable. Because he was a fine music sight-reader as a youngster, he quickly found that he could make money as a singer in recording studios and perform as a church section-leader eeking out a small living as a contract musician. He later fell into teaching-which he did for about 35 years-except for a small stint where he was a music director for a large episcopal church in Pennsylvania. Along the way he managed to perform with the Dale Warland Singers, The Chorus of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, various obscure Medieval and Renaissance singing groups, as well as singing in a 50's style doo-wop group. In short, he has led a joyful, music-filled life, and loves vocal music of all kinds.

Week 5 lecture, Judith Humphreys Choral Music Fund

Nenette Arroyo is a PhD candidate in Art and Architectural History at the University of Virginia. Her dissertation investigates the creation of religious sacred space in the Spanish California missions through interplay of the built environment, material culture, and spatial practice. She situates this period in American history within a global tradition of creating sacred spaces as sites of constructed meanings and negotiated identities. Nenette received a 2018 dissertation fellowship from the Academy of American Franciscan History. Her research at the University has been supported by the Americas Center, the Institute of the Humanities and Global Cultures, and the Center for Global Inquiry and Innovation.

Week 1 lecture, The Fitzgerald Lecture Fund

Bob Askew is a painter known primarily for his landscape paintings of scenes from the Sewanee area. Focusing on depth, light, and color, his paintings depict honest and creative expressions of what he sees, preferring to paint on location. His favorite painters are often teachers who have written books on their methods: Emile Gruppe (oil), Lee Boynton (watercolor and oil), and Andy Evansen (watercolor). Painters who paint, teach, and write have given us great gifts. We can study their teaching and painting methods even after they are no longer with us and pass these ideas along to others; developing our own style along the way. Askew Art Gallery and Studio is located in downtown Sewanee. Bob features original watercolor and oil paintings and gifts of prints, note cards, and embroidered items of his art.

Week 5 workshop, Brantley Smith Fine Arts Fund

Robin Bates grew up in Sewanee, attended Carleton College, and received his PhD in English from Emory University. He spent his career teaching at St. Mary's College of Maryland, received two Fulbright fellowships to Slovenia, and retired to Sewanee two years ago. He posts a daily essay on literature and life at his blog Better Living through Beowulf and is author of How Beowulf Can Save America: An Epic Hero's Guide to Defeating the Politics of Rage.

Week 6 lecture, Rountree Family Fund

A resident of Tullahoma, Jenny Berk has been involved with MSSA for the past two years and this year she is happy to be presenting a youth workshop combining several things she loves—working with youth and sewing/designing. Having learned basic sewing and quilting skills from her mother she earned a BFA in theatre technology and design from Pacific Lutheran University and then put her degree and sewing skills to use as a props master at Barter Theatre in Virginia. After earning a master's degree from the Lutheran Theological Southern Seminary, she began designing and building church textiles. Her work is seen across the United States nd Germany. She has been a youth director, swim instructor, preschool aide, and is currently an educational assistant at Tullahoma High School.

Weeks 3-7 fitness instructor, The Elrod Family Fund; Weeks 3 & 7 youth workshops, Special Lecture Fund

The harp duo Beyond Pluck was born in 2010, when Paula Bressman and Rachel Miller first met. They have taken the harp duo to new and uncharted territories. Never afraid to blur genre lines, Beyond Pluck is equally at home performing masterpieces by Bach and Debussy as they are rocking their own arrangements of classic pop hits. Beyond Pluck has worked with dancers, composers, drummers, scientists, visual artists, filmmakers, symphony orchestras, museums, and schools. They have presented programs with astronomer and photographer/filmmaker Dr. José Francisco Salgado, of the nonprofit organization KV 265 in the United States and Puerto Rico, and also worked with neuroscientists through their participation in a Music and the Brain Project, a partnership between KV 265 and the Feinberg School of Medicine at Northwestern University. Beyond Pluck has appeared on The Classical Classroom, a radio show and podcast produced by Houston Public Media; featured in Nashville Arts Magazine, and The Harp Column. Their arrangement and recording of The Who's Baba O'Riley was used in advertisements across the United Kingdom for telecommunications company TalkTalk. The two have been privileged to share their music across the United States as well as Puerto Rico in varied places such as art museums, churches, the streets of downtown Nashville, microbreweries and artisan distilleries, the forest of Tennessee, the Purple People Bridge in Cincinnati, schools, and concert halls. Paula and Rachel are also passionate music educators, guest teaching at Connecticut Valley Harp Intensive, presenting masterclasses, and both maintaining individual harp studios in Nashville and Cincinnati. They joined the faculty of the Sewanee Summer Music Festival In 2019.

Week 5 performance, The Fitzgerald Lecture Fund

When owner, Debbie Blinder, followed her dream to live in the mountains, she discovered how much she enjoyed frequenting farmers markets and craft fairs. She began a hobby of making her own healthy, home products and low and behold, a candle was born. Debbie Blinder lives in Monteagle. On the side, when not making candles, Debbie also teaches dance to local children and loves to hike around this beautiful area.

Week 8 workshop instructor, Program Enhancement Fund

Sarah Boykin is a graduate of The University of the South and holds a master's degree in architecture from the University of Texas at Austin. An architect with over twenty-five years of experience, she has managed a wide range of projects, with notable contributions in the development of university facilities; campus planning; the preservation of historic sites; and sustainable design. For more than two decades, Boykin has been documenting the architectural work of Leila Ross Wilburn, captivated and inspired by Wilburn's life and legacy. She is the co-author of Southern Homes and Plan Books. The Architectural Legacy of Leila Ross Wilburn, which was published in 2018. In 2019 she received the "Award for Excellence in Documenting Georgia's History" from The Georgia Historical Records Advisory Council. Lizzie teaches PreK-4 th grade art and loves for her students to experience different mediums and learn about famous artists. Her students work on a variety of projects from drawing, painting, sculpting, weaving, collage, and mixed media. Outside of school, Lizzie and her Sewanee alumnus husband, Joe, enjoy trying new restaurants, tending to their vegetable garden, and loving on their dachshund/lab mix, Margot. Lizzie also enjoys painting, spending time with her family and friends, and watching a good British mystery show.

Week 5 youth workshop, Program Enhancement Fund

Paula F. Casey is a dynamic speaker on voting rights, particularly the 72-year struggle for women to be included in the U.S. Constitution. She published a book, The Perfect 36: Tennessee Delivers Woman Suffrage, e-book and audiobook (www.theperfect36.com). She produced a 12:40 DVD, Generations: American Women Win the Vote, that follows the story of American women to win the right to vote culminating with victory in Tennessee. She co-founded the Tennessee Woman Suffrage Heritage Trail and is working to get public art honoring the suffragists across the state.

Week 4 lecture*, Patterson Lecture Fund*

Emily Copus is the owner of Carolina Flowers, a farm, flower shop and design studio located in Marshall, North Carolina. The farm produces about 4 acres of cut flowers each year for restaurants, weddings, farmers markets, florists, and the wholesale market. The goal is to create a farm-based business that is both economically and environmentally sustainable and adds vitality to the rural area just outside of Asheville. Carolina Flowers hosts workshops and events throughout the year, the largest of which is Flowers and Clay—a partnership with Josh Copus Pottery. This year, Flowers and Clay will take place on July 18 and 19. For more information, visit flowersnc.com or flowersandclay.com.

Week 3 workshop, Ethel and George Archer Fund

Al Cox has recently retired as the city architect for Alexandria, Va., after nearly 30 years of service. He is the Historic Preservation Manager for the Department of Planning and Zoning, staffing the Board of Architectural Review for two local 18th century historic districts. Al is a past president of the AIA, Northern Virginia Chapter and received AIA Virginia's Award for Preservation in 2002, and was elected to the College of Fellows in 2006. Al has visited the Assembly numerous times, and he enjoys spending time with the historic architecture, and offering sage wisdom in those efforts.

Chattanooga native Bill Dedman is a Pulitzer Prize-winning American journalist and co-author of the No. 1 New York Times bestselling biography Empty Mansions: The Mysterious Life of Huguette Clark and the Spending of a Great American Fortune. A former reporter for the Chattanooga newspapers, he received the Pulitzer Prize for Investigative Reporting in 1989 for The Color of Money, a series of articles in The Atlanta Journal-Constitution on racial discrimination by mortgage lenders in middle-income black neighborhoods. Dedman uncovered the case of the reclusive copper heiress Huguette Clark in 2010, documenting her life in a series of reports for NBC News. Dedman and Clark's cousin, Paul Clark Newell, Jr., co-wrote the nonfiction Empty Mansions about Clark and her father, the Gilded Age industrialist and senator William A. Clark. A TV series based on Empty Mansions is under development. Dedman is a frequent speaker for nonprofit organizations, foundations, and financial companies, emphasizing the lessons learned from Huguette Clark's mistakes in estate planning, along with the colorful history of an influential American family.

Week 4 lecture, Rollins Family Fund

Dr. Soul's is your new favorite band! Hailing from Nashville, Tenn., this group specializes in Soul, Funk, Jazz, and everything in between. Their mission is simple: to make you groove, whether that's to their large array of cover songs (ranging from the 60s to modern pop) or their own compositions. Dr. Soul's recently completed a 3-year run as the house band of Nashville's own talk show, The Ben and Morey Show, ran a successful crowdfunding campaign to fund a tour to Chicago, and has their debut album coming out this summer. The band has many connections to Monteagle, featuring many Sewanee alumni and MSSA's own Mac Frith. Get your dancing shows on, because this is going to be party you won't forget!

Week 7 performance, Cross Music Fund

Born in the frenzied sounds of Music City USA, Def Leprechaun is emerging as one of the country's premier Celtic bands. Musicians Larry Kernagis, Markus Stadler and Don McGinnis have combined their well-honed acoustic and vocal performance skills into a unique blend of hard-driving folk with a side of lavish balladeering. Def Leprechaun's "Celtic fusion" will make your favorite old Irish tunes come alive and introduce you to the best of the new sounds from the "old sod". They'll be sure to keep you laughing, clapping and stomping. And don't be surprised if you get pulled into the act to chant on the chorus! Def Leprechaun regularly entertains at the Opryland Resort and other great venues in the south. When not on their busy local schedule they'll be taking their high-octane Irish act on tour around the country. To be sure you'll have a grand time and wanting more!

Week 2 performance, Trabue Family Fund

Susie Creagh Elder is an artist and art educator committed to sharing the joy of art with her students and her love of service. She currently teaches at Harpeth Hall School in Nashville and exhibits her art with the Nashville Artist Collective (www.nashvilleartistcollective.org). Susie graduated from the University of the South and received a master's degree in art education from Ohio State University. Her connection to the mountain runs generations deep. She has been coming to the Assembly since she was a child, and her two girls, Georgia and Zoe, spend part of every summer here.

Dewey Hammond is a business consultant, financial administrator, and sports enthusiast. He was introduced to golf at the age of 12 and played at Chattanooga's McCallie School in the early 1970's. Dewey first started experimenting with the BirdieBall in 2016, and recently designed a BirdieBall golf course in Monteagle's Harton Park just outside the Assembly. He is excited about ways that BirdieBall can make the sportsmanship, fun and challenges of golf accessible to more youth. Dewey graduated from the University of Georgia, and then earned a JD at the University of Virginia and a MBA at UNC-Chapel Hill. After moving to Monteagle, he taught accounting at the University of the South during the 2018-19 academic year, and was MSSA's youth tennis instructor in 2019. Dewey is married to Becky Hammond, MSSA's office manager, and they have 3 grown children and 6+ grandchildren.

The Rev. Josh Hatcher holds a newly-minted Doctor of Ministry degree from the School of Theology, University of the South. He is a husband and father, hopeless wonder-junkie, and the Senior Pastor of Historic Trinity Lutheran Church: An open and caring, radically Christ-centered, deeply sacramental and sometimes eclectic ministry in the heart of St. Louis. Josh earned a B.A. from the University of Memphis and M.Div. from Concordia Seminary, St. Louis, Mo.

Week 5 guest minister, Harton Sunday Sermon Fund and Albright-Orr Twilight Prayer Fund

Born and raised in Memphis, Dr. Melissa McCrory Hatcher has been steeped in the muddy waters of the Mississippi River all her life. That River gave her a restless spirit, leading her to adventures in over 20 countries. In 2009, she earned a Ph.D. in English, specializing in children's literature. She teaches English at the college level, and while her babies nap, she writes.

Week 5 lecture and writing workshop, Elizabeth Spickard Schumman Fund

Aaron Sanders Head is a curator, writer, and traveling, teaching artist based in Greensboro, AL. His work investigates, restores, and reinterprets historical textile practices, with a focus on natural dyes, handiwork, hand-mending and hand-stitching. Aaron explores the intersections of practices of the past with contemporary craft, and the ways that sewing and textile arts can aid in increasing diversity and representation in the creative class.

Week 7 lecture and workshop, Miss Bessie Fund

Denice Hicks has been working for The Nashville Shakespeare Festival since 1990 as an actor, director, teaching artist, and has held the position of Artistic Director since 2005. Educated at Point Park University in Pittsburgh, she moved to Nashville in 1980 to perform at Opryland USA. Denice was an original company member of the Nashville Repertory Theatre, and was among the founders of both the Darkhorse Theater and of People's Branch Theatre. An Ingram Fellowship award winner, she has edited and directed touring productions of Shakespeare's works, developed and facilitated workshops for students of all ages, and designed and implemented the NSF Apprentice Company Training and Shakespeare Allowed programming. She has lectured at many universities in the US, and was a guest lecturer for CCSA in Stratford-Upon-Avon and London. The Tennessean, Broadwayworld.com, and the Nashville Scene have praised her work, from which she has received "Best Actor" and "Best Director" acknowledgments.

Jeremy Hultin is associate professor of Biblical languages at Union Theological Seminary, New York. He previously served on the faculty at Murdoch University, Perth, Australia, from 2012-2016, where he was Lecturer in New Testament and where he worked with Anglican ordinands at Wollaston Theological College. He received a PhD in religion from Yale Divinity School and taught New Testament there from 2003-2012. Dr. Hultin is interested broadly in the history, language, and literature of ancient Judaism and Christianity, as well as in the broader study of philosophy and religion in the Mediterranean. His first book, The Ethics of Obscene Speech in Early Christianity and Its Environment (Brill 2008), examined early Christian rhetoric about foul language in the broader context of ancient discussions about the nature and propriety of speech. Work on that book prompted an ongoing interest in the ways that gender, status, and ethnicity figure in ancient discussions of speech, and the way that social realities are revealed—and shaped—by discourse about how to talk. In 2010, Dr. Hultin co-founded a new Society of Biblical Literature Unit called "Speech and Talk in the Ancient Mediterranean World," which has brought together scholars from various disciplines. Dr. Hultin has also completed a translation (with notes) for a bi-lingual edition of Hippolytus's Commentary on Daniel, which will be published in SBL's Writings from the Greco-Roman World series. Hippolytus's Commentary is of special interest, as it is the earliest surviving Christian commentary on a book of the Hebrew Bible; furthermore, it is a valuable source of information about Christian practice and belief at the turn of the third century.

Week 2 lectures, The Wayne and Virginia Jervis Memorial Bible Week Fund

John Kilkenny enjoys a unique career as a performer, conductor, and artistic administrator. Hailed as a "particularly fine timpanist" by the Washington Post, he leads a dynamic, 21st-century musical career that includes regular orchestral, solo and chamber music performances across the country and around the world. Over a nearly twenty-year career, he has had the honor of being regularly engaged with virtually every leading Washington DC performing arts organization, from the National Symphony to the Washington Bach Consort, and maintains regular performances as an extra musician with the Kennedy Center Opera House Orchestra. He tours regularly presenting solo recitals, concertos performances, and master classes at leading universities and conservatories including throughout the United States and around the world. John is Director of Percussion Studies and Associate Director of Concert Bands at George Mason University. In 2018, he was appointed Artistic and Executive Director of the Sewanee Summer Music Festival. He is a proud sponsor of Vic Firth mallets, Zildjian cymbals, Remo percussion products, and is a Yamaha performing artist.

Weeks 2 & 6 workshop Instructor, Special Lecture Fund

Valerie Lorenz loves to knit! She first learned in school, nd continues to reap joy and the benefits of expanding her knowledge and skills, often with sisters or friends. She has taught many people to knit or to solve problems in a project, and has taught weekly classes for about 10 years in the Student Activities department of the University of the South. Although we no longer need to make our own sweaters and scarves, it is satisfying to create an article that is totally unique to be worn or to use as household furnishings or accessories. Knitting is still something that brings millions of people worldwide much pleasure, and she looks forward to sharing that with knitters at the Assembly. Whether you're a seasoned pro or one who has always wanted to learn, come share time together in the three weeks of the knitting workshop.

Weeks 4, 5, & 6, workshop instructor, Miss Bessie Fund

Welcome to Felix Mann, director of tennis programs this season. Since 2015, Felix has been coaching tennis at The University of the South, Sewanee, spending his first three years as an associate men's and women's coach. In 2018, he became the head men's tennis coach and was given oversight of recruiting prospective players to the university. Also, in 2018, he was named ITA Regional Assistant Coach of the Year, and a year later, Conference Coach of the Year, after the men's team won the SAA championship. Prior to Sewanee, he was the head men's and women's coach at Averett University, Danville, Virginia, for three years. In addition to college level players, Felix has extensive experience in teaching/coaching youth tennis programs. For eleven summers, he worked at the Peter Howell Tennis Camps, Atlanta, Georgia, at Oglethorpe University, and he is presently a coach at the summer Tiger Tennis Camp in Sewanee. Felix graduated from Oglethorpe University in 2011 with a B.S. in economics and a minor in business. He is excited to be part of the Assembly this summer and wants to make the tennis courts the place to be this summer

Laura Marsh is a field ornithologist and conservation biologist. Her master's thesis investigated the impact of human disturbances on the fat acquisition in birds. She has worked at various places and institutions, including the Smithsonian Migratory Bird Center and Cornell University. Laura recently founded Nova Conservation, an organization that connects wildlife scientists with non-biologists to engage in unique, research-focused trips. Currently, she serves as the Secretary for the Chattanooga Audubon Society, is in various ornithological societies, and teaches Environmental Science at UTC when she's not chasing birds in the field or her two young boys around on trails.

Weeks 1 & 3 lectures, Corinne Blake Environmental Lecture Series

Sid Mashburn serves as Chief Executive Officer & Designer with partner Ann Mashburn as Chief Creative Officer & Designer of Mashburn, LLC. Sid began his design career in New York as the very first men's designer at J.Crew, where he spent 5 years helping to establish the brand's menswear identity and aesthetic. He was then recruited by Ralph Lauren himself to design at Polo and begin what would eventually become their Rugby collection. He went on to serve as VP of Design at Tommy Hilfiger and spent 6 years as SVP of Design at Lands' End. Ann's career in fashion began in editorial at Conde Nast, where she served as an assistant to famed Vogue fashion editor and stylist Polly Mellen, and worked alongside such visionary greats as Richard Avedon, Irving Penn, and Steven Meisel. Following her time at Vogue, Ann was then named fashion editor of Glamour and then went on to style at J.Crew, where she and Sid worked together. This began their lifelong creative partnership. In 2007, Sid, Ann & their five daughters moved to Atl nta to pursue his own line. Inspired by the beauty and attention to detail of shops in Tokyo & Milan, as well as the end - to-end service tradition of old-school American haberdashers, Sid & Ann opened a single men's shop, SID MASHBURN, on the west side of Atlanta in 2007. The concept was simple: a combination of their own designed and produced tailored clothing, sportswear, footwear, and accessories, alongside their favorite classic, iconic, and hard-to-find pieces, all in a space designed to feel as beautiful, cool, and welcoming as possible. In 2010, they expanded the business with a full women's line and shop, which is inspired by Ann's own well-edited closet, and filled with the brand's signature line of clothing, footwear, and accessories, as well as a curation of favorite objects and brands picked up from stops around the world. Mashburn launched e -commerce sites in 2011 to serve the brand's ever-expanding customer base outside of Atlanta. The shops have been celebrated as premier retail destinations by national fashion, lifestyle, and luxury publications, and Sid & Ann as consummate lifestyle tastemakers. Flagship SID and ANN shops opened in Houston in winter 2013, and the duo opened their third and fourth set of retail locations in Georgetown,

Washington, D.C. and Dallas, fall 2015. The brand has since expanded to the west coast, with the fall 2016 opening of a Sid Mashburn the only men's shop in the Brentwood Country Mart in Los Angeles. In February 2018, Sid and Ann expanded their flagship Atlanta retail footprint with the opening of an adjacent Mashburn coffee shop and experiential lifestyle concept shop. Sid & Ann live in Buckhead, Atlanta, with their five daughters, Elizabeth, Louisa, Daisy, Harriet and Pauline.

Week 2 lecture, Elizabeth Austin Lecture Fund

Raised in Texas, Germany, and North Carolina, The Rev. Allyn Maxfield-Steele first heard about Highlander when he was a student activist learning and working alongside grassroots movements in Northeast Thailand. He first got involved in Highlander's leadership programs, however, when he was trying to figure out how to bring students, educators, and community residents together across racial and class differences to address community development issues in Upstate South Carolina. An ordained minister in the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), Allyn has served congregations in Alaska and Tennessee. He has been the Co-Executive Director of Highlander since 2017. Allyn and his spouse, Rev. Erin Maxfield-Steele, reside in Western North Carolina with their newborn child and enormous dog.

Eleanor Montgomery began her Pilates journey while pregnant with her first daughter in 2006. She received her STOTT Pilates Reformer Certification in 2009. She first taught in Tuscaloosa, Ala under the mentorship of Tammy Toosen, who now exclusively trains the majority of The University of Alabama's athletes. Two daughters, a move to Mountain Brook, and two Pilates studios later, Eleanor completed her STOTT Pilates certification on all Pilates apparatuses. With the support and encouragement of her husband Tom, she subleased a spot in Vestavia to test the waters for a boutique studio. Five months later, Pilates Mountain Brook was born in 2017 at 200 Office Park Drive. If you ask Eleanor what makes her style unique, she will tell you that a STOTT Pilates education is second to none. It is referred to as "The Harvard of Pilates education." 500 hours are required to complete the program, along with a written and practical exam. STOTT Pilates is a contemporary, integrated, approach that combines classical Pilates movements with modern, dynamic modifications. Pilates Mountain Brook is the only studio in Birmingham that exclusively teaches STOTT Pilates. Private and group sessions are available for all ages. "My oldest client is 86 and my youngest client is 12. And short of my faith, I believe Pilates solves just about anything," says Eleanor.

Weeks 1-8 Pilates Fridays, Saunders Family Fund

Nashville Shakespeare Festival, Born out of productions of Shakespeare presented in Nashville's Centennial Park in 1988 and 1989, the Nashville Shakespeare Festival embraces its mission to educate and entertain the Mid-South community through professional Shakespearean experiences. NSF enriches and unifies its community with bold, innovative and relevant productions along with empowering, participatory educational programs, setting the community standard of excellence in educational outreach and performances of Shakespeare's plays. Sawyer Wallace and Katie Bruno are the professional actors with NSF who will bring their teaching and performing skills to the Monteagle Assembly to work and perform with Assembly youth. After graduating from Lipscomb University in 2012, Sawyer Wallace has worked in Nashville as a teacher, director, actor and carpenter. He currently works as the Youth Director for ClassAct Dramatics, the Youth wing of Street Theatre Company. Having done Shakespeare workshops in high schools in Nashville, TN, and Dundee, Scotland, as well as at the Tennessee Prison for Women as a part of the Lipscomb Life Program, Sawyer is excited to bring The Bard to life for the Assembly audience. Originally from Ithaca, NY, Katie Bruno studied musical theater at the University of Miami in Florida. She traveled to Spain and Ecuador with the Frost Chorale, and she sang with the world renown Jazz Vocal Ensemble. Currently Education Administrator for the Nashville Shakespeare Festival, Katie began her career as an actor and educator on the Merry-Go-Round Playhouse's Youth Tour. The New Art Trio was formed over 25 years ago and is Chattanooga's oldest continuously performing chamber music ensemble. They play for parties, weddings, and receptions, as well as formal concert programs. They have also performed in Georgia, Alabama and towns in Southeast Tennessee. They have appeared at four Riverbend Festivals in Chattanooga as part of the original Riverbend Chamber Music series, and a portion of their performance at one of those was featured on National Public Radio's "Performance Today" program. They have also performed on the Miller Concert Series at St. Luke's United Methodist Church in Chattanooga and were chosen by audition to perform at the 1999 National Flute Association Convention held in Atlanta that year. Mrs Smith and Mr Reed are current members of the Chattanooga Symphony and Opera and Mrs Kile has recently retired from the CSO after 41 years.

Week 1 performance, The Music Fund

Judson Newbern's artistic motivation is the lifelong pursuit of expanding skill sets for capturing inspiring subject matter. I believe that quality design from a small painting to configuring large landscape spaces requires mastery of similar fundamentals—only the materials and parameters change. As a landscape architect, I oversaw the design and planning of the Vanderbilt University campus for 30 years, learning a great deal about space and composition. Having begun watercolor lessons at age 10 on the Outer Banks of NC, I expanded into oils and acrylics in college. Maintaining the practice of painting complemented working in a design field and allowed me to return my focus to art several years ago. Serving on the board of a plein air painting group in Nashville inspired watercolors to become a focus as they can quickly capture the changing images drawn from Nature. Painting is quite rewarding if you enjoy it on your own level and don't worry about what anyone else is doing!

Week 3 workshops, John Gaddis Watercolor Workshop Fund

Born and raised in the deep south, Mary Parmer is the creator and director of Invite Welcome Connect, a transformational ministry of evangelism, hospitality, and belonging, located at the Beecken Center, School of Theology, University of the South, Sewanee. Jen Reynolds has been creating custom cookies for the Nashville area for the past two years as the Cookie Mama. After taking a cookie decorating class 2 years ago she jumped right into the world of cookie decorating, and hasn't looked back. Her favorite thing about this medium is that no two jobs ever have to be the same, and it really is a wonderful way to express creativity and love. Jen started coming to the Assembly when she met her husband, Will Reynolds, at The University of the South, back in 2003. In addition to cookie decorating, Jen teaches workout classes at Studio Novo in Nashville, and is a mom of two boys—Will (5 years) and Walker (3 years). The boys love to work with her in the kitchen and help her bake whenever they get the chance.

Week 4 workshop, pro bono

The faculty and staff of the Sewanee Summer Music Festival are thrilled to participate in the 138th season of the Monteagle Sunday School Assembly, presenting two performances and a lecture. Faculty at the SSMF come from around the country and many are a part of the music faculty at top universities or play in exceptional orchestras and ensembles from around the globe. SSMF is thrilled to have them at Sewanee, and to be able to present these world class musicians at the Assembly. The students at the Sewanee Summer Music Festival come from around the country and are excited to have the opportunity to perform their chamber music for the audience at the Monteagle Sunday School Assembly. Students at SSMF range from early high school all the way to doctoral school in their studies of music. Student ensembles are assigned at the SSMF and often the chamber groups you will hear have only been rehearsing for a week or two. We hope you enjoy hearing their hard work pay off at their Assembly concerts! For more information about the full schedule of SSMF concerts in Sewanee this summer, see (www.ssmf.sewanee.edu).

Her experiences studying religion and social justice at Agnes Scott College and culinary arts at New England Culinary Institute have informed the way she creates engaging experiences to bring people together over shared meals. For the last 10 years, she has been working to empower all kinds of folks to feed themselves and their loved ones healthy, nutritious meals on a budget through classes, workshops, and dinners. She's passionate about advocating for our local farmers and producers, sustainable food systems, and using food as a means to foster inclusion and community building. She serves as a board member of the South Cumberland Food Hub, as a member of the Interfaith Council, Southeast Tennessee Young Farmers Coalition, and the Friends of the University Farm.

Week 7 workshop, The Trabue Family Fund

Tracy City Jam Band, which does not always include the same musicians, follows the pattern of most Appalachian bands. Folks would gather for a threshing, a wedding, a barn-raising, or perhaps even a funeral, and whoever showed up would form a spontaneous "band." Sometimes these musicians would have never played with each other, but just as often would have played together for many years, sometimes even generations. Inevitably these casual groups over-lapped, and this gave rise to interesting cross-pollinations of musical styles. So, while the basic tunes may have been known throughout an area, the spontaneous improvisation would always be fresh and new. This is what has kept this music alive and what you hear when Tracy City Jam Band plays together in Monteagle. The band members feel that if they were to make this music polished and commercial, it would lose its appeal.

Week 4 performance, Cross Music Fund

Nashville native Bea Troxel started writing songs in the tenth grade about bad haircuts. In high school, she played in a band called, Bea, Rita, and Maeve (named Best High School Band of 2013 by Nashville Scene. The trio won Studio 360's High School Battle of the Bands contest performing Bea's song The River. Andrew W.K. and Thao Nguyen covered their performance and Nguyen wrote that there was a "subtlety and refinement in the musicianship." Troxel played through her years in Sewanee but a move to Pennsylvania brought new opportunities to open for musicians such as Glenn Jones, Laura Baird, and Sons of an Illustrious Father. She organized her first tour in 2017, and after returning to Nashville, released her debut album, The Way That it Feels. The album has inspired another tour and other appearances. Including showcase artist at SXSW 2018. She will be performing songs from this album as well as new songs written in the last year.

Week 6 performance, The Music Fund

The Rev. Thomas Reid Ward, Jr., C'67, was Sewanee's 17th Rhodes Scholar. After graduating from the University, he earned degrees in English language and literature from Oxford University. Ward taught at Meridian Junior College in Mississippi and at Sewanee before he earned a Master of Divinity degree from Virginia Theological Seminary. He served parishes in Mississippi and Tennessee before returning to Sewanee as University chaplain, a position he held from 1994 to 2005. In 1998, he began a practice in centering prayer, a form of meditation that encourages silence and a deeper connection to God. Ward teaches centering prayer, leads retreats, and fosters the practice in local congregations. He works closely with Contemplative Outreach, a network that seeks to foster contemplation, and has served on its advisory board since 1998.

Week 7 lecture, Martha Billington Trabue Fund

Weeks 3, 4, 7, & 8 fitness instructor, Saunders Family Fund

Dr. Kevin Young is a speaker, writer, and pastor known for his creativity, wit, transparency, and passion to communicate truth in ways that captivate and motivate others to action. Kevin is senior minister of JupiterFIRST Church, a large, thriving, progressive, inter-generational congregation in South Florida focused on ancient-future worship. Before transitioning to pastoral ministry, Kevin was one of the country's foremost media ministers. Now, he employs many of those same skills crafting one-of-a-kind, engaging, and relevant sermons. As a pastor, Kevin's sweet spot has become turn-around situations during difficult waters and times of transition. Academically, his research energy is focused on the Early Church (Late Antique) and the ancient spiritual practices used by the early church to embed faith within an antagonistic culture. Kevin is an accomplished weightlifter, cross-stitcher, and adequate tennis partner to his wife. He also loves honing his graphic and web design skills on the side but not nearly as much as he loves spending time with his wife, Sally, and four young children: Libbie, Lucy, Harris, and Matthew.

Week 7 guest minister, Winfield-Leigh Sunday Sermon and Brownlow Twilight Prayer Funds.
