MSSA Loves Electric Carts, Bicycles & Walking Wouldn't You Love To Park That Car?

The Board of Trustees, the President and Officers of the Monteagle Sunday School Assembly encourage you to enjoy the fresh air and the opportunity to stretch your legs whenever possible. We all want to do our part to protect the environment, the safety of our children and pedestrians, and the quiet and tranquility of our Assembly grounds. Here are the things you can do:

- Whenever possible, walk, ride your bike, or use an electric cart.
- Park your car. If you can, use one of our convenient parking areas outside the Assembly's fenced grounds. These parking areas are located outside the Front Gate and outside the North Gate. A free Satellite parking pass is required in these lots for security purposes.

Enjoy Walking MSSA Nature Trails

In addition to the developed areas of neighborhoods and parkland linked by roads, footpaths and footbridges within the Assembly's historic Grounds, there is a system of nature trails on Assembly property that extends into the woods beyond the west and north gates of the Grounds.

Warren's Point on the plateau bluff to the north is the destination of the East and West Nature Trails. A large gazebo at Warren's Point is lined with benches that invite you to sit and enjoy the splendid view into the valley, and a stone bench further down the slope is a perfect spot for quiet reflection. A permanent picnic table is also in place for fellowship with family and friends. The fire ring at Warren's Point is only for use during Assembly organized activities and with Assembly staff supervision. Individual picnic fires are strictly prohibited.

The North Nature Trail offers a more rugged two-mile hike below the bluff line of Warren's Point. In Waldrop Woods there is a pleasant Loop Trail that begins and ends at the West (walking) Gate near where Linden and Walnut Avenues intersect, behind Cottage #142. Approximate distances and landmarks on the routes of these trails are noted on maps of the Assembly Nature Trails that are available in the Assembly office, snack shop, dining hall, and chapel.

Warren's Point and the Monteagle Sunday School Assembly Cemetery may also be accessed by walking along the gravel road that extends towards the left beyond the North Gate of the Assembly Grounds.

"You will show me the path of life; in your presence there is fullness of joy, and in your right hand are pleasures for evermore."

Psalm 16, verse 11

History of the Monteagle Sunday School Assembly

In April 1882, the Sunday School Convention of Tennessee sought to establish a Sunday School Congress for the following summer. In October the charter was drawn for the Monteagle Sunday School Assembly. The Board then selected a site, hired a landscape engineer, from Rochester, New York, to lay out the grounds and planned a program. The Monteagle Sunday School Assembly opened its first session on July 17, 1883, for the purpose of "the advancement of science, literary attainment, Sunday School interests, and the promotion of the broadest popular culture in the interest of Christianity without regard to sect or denomination."

The Assembly was an immediate success in spite of the fact that a restaurant and amphitheater were the only permanent structures on the Grounds the first summer. An ambitious building program soon resulted in scores of boarding houses, public meeting rooms, and private cottages to accommodate the thousands who visited the Assembly each year for the summer season. For a number of years before southern colleges and universities offered summer courses on their campuses, summer schools at the Assembly were popular. School teachers from across the South thronged to Monteagle to attend classes that broadened their educational experience.

In its early years the Assembly maintained close ties to the Chautauqua Institution at Chautauqua, NY, the original or "Mother" Assembly, founded in 1872. Chautauqua's goal was to combine the training of Sunday School teachers with a broader program of religious, educational, and cultural enrichment. The national Chautauqua Literary and Scientific Circle (C.L.S.C.) program held annual graduation ceremonies for southern students at the Monteagle Assembly, its recognized regional headquarters. In the early 1900s, as part of a coalition known as the International Chautauqua Alliance, the Monteagle Sunday School Assembly presented nationally known lecturers, ministers, and artists in the Auditorium.

World War I, the Great Depression, and World War II took their tolls on the Monteagle Sunday School Assembly. Fewer people in attendance meant declining revenues and many programs were discontinued. Some cottages stayed vacant year after year. Yet the Assembly continued with a summer session each year, offering basic religious, platform and youth programs for all who came.

The 1960s and '70s brought a reawakening of interest in the Monteagle Assembly and its programs. Families reopened and repaired cottages, and endowment funds were established as a means to rejuvenate the worship programs and other activities. The Centennial Celebration in 1982 was a catalyst in promoting interest and participation in the Assembly community, and in underpinning historic preservation efforts through designation as a Historic District listed in the National Register of Historic Places. Events of the Assembly's first 100 years were chronicled in a souvenir publication, Mountain Voices: The Centennial History of Monteagle Sunday School Assembly. Ties to the mother Chautauqua Institution in New York were reestablished through membership in a growing "Chautauqua Network," and an Archive for the collection and preservation of Assembly records and memorabilia was established.

Today the Monteagle Sunday School Assembly continues to honor its history and mission with a rich and varied schedule of religious, educational, cultural, and recreational programs for all ages. Assembly members and visitors affirm their commitment to the purpose of the Assembly by their support of these programs. In doing so they continue, in the words of the Rev. William H. Elder, III, 'the marvelous legacy of Christian human beings who have sought ways to cherish, nourish, renew and share their faith in an environment at times mistaken for Eden.'

Woman's Association 2021

Motto: "Each for the other, all for Monteagle"

Organized in 1887, the MSSA Woman's Association has played a vital role in the development of the Assembly by providing hospitality, financial support, and meeting space for all aspects of the program. Centrally located on the Mall, the Association's cottage, Winfield, houses the Assembly library and is staffed by a resident Hostess/ Librarian. Winfield was acquired in 1960 when Assembly member Ella D. Winfield bequeathed her property to the Assembly. The Fletcher Guest Wing, made possible by a fund established in memory of Gertrude Bowling Whitworth Fletcher, was added to accommodate Platform guests. Winfield is the location for many activities during the season, including Sunday School, parents' meetings, workshops, children's story hours, and card parties. There is always a warm welcome on the Winfield porch. Membership is open to all women who wish to support the Woman's Association and its activities. The MSSA Culinary Guild, now a program of the Woman's Association, celebrates and supports the local South Cumberland food and farming community, and the preparation and enjoyment of great food. Members maintain the Assembly's Humphreys-Martin Family Herb Garden and enjoy coming together for food, beverage, and fun several times during the program season. Culinary Guild membership is open to all who are interested in the culinary scene on the Mountain.

Youth Program

The youth have been an integral part of the Assembly from its beginning, and many consider Monteagle a place where children can develop both spiritually and physically in a safe environment. Throughout the summer season, a Youth Coordinator, Christian Education Coordinator, Kindergarten and Crafts Director, and other Youth Staff supervise high quality activities for children of all ages.

Children are encouraged to participate in their age appropriate groups and in all phases of Assembly life; however, our mission places a high value on family, and parents should still consider themselves completely responsible for their children's behavior whether they are at home or participating in Assembly functions. The Assembly youth staff is not to be considered as babysitters, and parents should be prepared to supervise their children at movies, lectures, or concerts and other events. In many cases, adult accompaniment will be the best choice.

Weekly Youth Parents Meetings:

These meetings are a great way to be in the loop about the week's activities, any schedule changes, and volunteer needs. We hope you will plan to attend these half-hour meetings held each Tuesday from 10:15-10:45 AM on the porch at Harton Hall. In addition, Hummingbird parents and their age-appropriate children are encouraged to attend a "Meet and Greet" with the Hummingbird staff each Tuesday between 9:30 and 10:00 AM.

Excursions:

Age-appropriate excursions have been planned for each week. Please refer to the Youth Bulletin Board (located in the front of the Auditorium) each Monday for information on the specific excursions for your child's age group as well as information for All Assembly Excursions. Additional information will be available at the Youth Parents' Meeting each Tuesday at 10:15 AM at Harton Hall porch and may also be obtained from the Youth Coordinator. For excursions away from the Assembly, parents are advised to use discretion in allowing their children to participate. Eagles must be accompanied on excursions by a parent or a responsible adult. Children under the age of twelve will not be allowed to ride in cars with the youth staff, so parents should plan to drive their own children on excursions.

Bicycle and Bridge Safety:

We want all Assembly youth to be safe and enjoy their mountain experience. Parents, please help us to help your children stay safe. All cyclists within the Assembly grounds must abide by the laws of the State of Tennessee regarding bicycle safety. In addition, there are specific Assembly rules that strictly forbid the riding of bicycles on footbridges or tennis courts and require that pedestrians on Assembly footpaths be given the right of way. Infractions of the bicycle safety rules may result in the loss of bicycle privileges.

Curfew:

The Youth Committee recommends these as appropriate times for children to be home:

Children under 12 years: 10:30 PM

Children 12–14 years: 11:00 PM or immediately following a youth event for this age group 11:30 PM or immediately following a youth event for this age group

There is an established midnight curfew for all persons 18 years of age and under.

Endowment Fund Corporation

The Monteagle Assembly Endowment fund was incorporated on July 10, 1959, for the purpose of soliciting and accepting gifts, grants, devises, and bequests in aid and furtherance of the objectives and purposes of Monteagle Sunday School Assembly. Much benefit to the Assembly has derived from the generosity and foresight of many.

Gifts may be made in cash, through appreciated securities, or through other methods of planned giving, such as, insurance proceeds, remainder trusts, or final bequests. Please contact any member of the MAEFC Board if you would like to discuss this matter further.

Bridges to the Future Campaign

The purpose of the Bridges to the Future Campaign is to encourage members and friends of the Monteagle Assembly to remember the Assembly in their estate plans. The campaign will help insure the future of the Assembly for generations to come. Today, we are able to enjoy much of what we cherish about the Assembly due to the generous gifts of members in the past. Now through the Bridges Campaign, each of us can help insure that future generations will have the same opportunity to share in this wonderful place as our children and grandchildren are having.

To date we have had one hundred and five members or families who have made a commitment to remember the Assembly in their estate plans. They are listed below.

Jeremy Hultin, associate professor of Biblical languages Union Theological Seminary, New York

Rediscovering the Gospel of Luke: Historical Investigations and Contemporary Applications In many ways, Luke offers us a unique perspective on Jesus and the movement he inaugurated. Writing with an awareness that accounts of Jesus were proliferating, Luke sets out to tell an "orderly" account, drawing on his knowledge of both Greco-Roman literary conventions and a deep knowledge of the Hebrew Bible. Already in the opening chapters, Luke sounds his themes of social transformation and the promise of "consolation for Israel." For Luke, Jesus is, above all, a "mighty prophet" in the mold of Elijah, announcing the "favorable year of the Lord." But Luke also writes with frank acknowledgement that, in the wake of Jesus' execution, many felt that their hope that Jesus "would redeem Israel" had been disappointed (Luke 24:21).

These lectures will explore some of Luke's major themes, such as his unique treatment of wealth and social justice; the depiction of Jesus as a prophet; the relationship of Jesus and his followers to "Israel" as the one true people of God; and Luke's attempt to wrest meaning from apparent tragedy of Jesus' death.

Tuesday: Great Expectations: Luke 1-4 and the political history of Judaea Wednesday: A Prophet Mighty in Word and Deed: Luke's Christology

Thursday: Mary has chosen the better part: Women and men in the ministry of Jesus, and in the Gospel of Luke

Friday: We had hoped that he was the one to redeem Israel: Luke's search for meaning in Jesus' Death

Choral Ensemble Performance: MiContraFa

A cappella ensemble MiContraFa took their name from the Latin phrase Mi contra fa est diabolus in musica. Loosely translated this means "the Hexachord note Mi against Fa is the devil in music." Tonight's program promises to be more tame, mostly. The vocal ensemble will offer a smorgasbord of great choral music from the Medieval to the present day. Tracing the history of choral singing through the ages is no easy task, as there are many roads that diverge through the mists of time. The survey begins in the early medieval period and attempts to touch on the choral chestnuts of the renaissance, baroque, classical, romantic, and modern period of music. Don't miss this choral time travel! No fee, no sign up

Fri., June 25, 7:30 p.m., Bandstand/Mall (Auditorium is the rain location) Family Concert: Bea Troxel Trio

Nashville, Tenn., native Bea Troxel's "The Way That It Feels" is a tender little universe of an album; delicate without being saccharine, lovely without losing its element of surprise. "Talc," for one, is enough to permanently restore faith in the power of an arresting, dead simple bridge. Just when the song's sweeping guitar arpeggios and pillowy harmonies have your ear under their spell, Troxel takes a hard left, blurting out the question the song's narrator has been meticulously avoiding: "Love, do you have use for me?" She will be performing songs from this album as well as new songs written in the last year. No fee, no sign up

Sparks and his battalion of "Thunderbirds" were classic citizen soldiers, and for over 500 days they led a special group of American soldiers from Italy to France to the liberation of the Dachau concentration camp, through some of the most grueling battles of the war, becoming one of the most decorated American combat units of World War II. This is Life: Cyanotype Photographic Process

Carolyn Benedict Fraser, instructor

In this workshop, students will learn to make prints using the cyanotype process. This early photographic process creates a unique blue image. It was historically used by architects and engineers to make copies of their drawings, or as we call them, "blue-prints." The images that students will produce in this workshop will look different than the photographs we are used to seeing. Students will search the grounds for natural materials that have unique shapes and varying degrees of transparency – such as leaves, rocks, grass, etc. – and create 5×7 inch prints with the objects they have found. Students will each have 10 sheets of light sensitive paper to make their own unique compositions and designs. $10 fee, maximum 8 students.

Walk: A Guided Tour of Abbo's Alley, Sewanee

Join Mary Priestley, curator of the Sewanee Herbarium and author L.C. Fiore on a walk through Abbo's Alley. The Friday morning book lecture relates the story of German POW's who helped create the garden during their captivity. The history of Abbo's Alley closely mirrors that of the University. This will be a leisurely walk to gain an insider's view of the secret beauty of Abbo's Alley. Some footpaths are a bit uneven. Bring your nature journal if you'd like to pause and sketch or journal at any of the many spots in this lovely ravine garden. Meet by the millstone at the entrance to Abbo's Alley on University Avenue, near the intersection with Georgia Avenue, near the ATO fraternity house; maps available.

Enjoy an entertaining evening hearing the trio known for playing "Classic Jazz for the Contemporary Audience".

Documentary: The Liberator, part 3, 3 p.m. and part 4, 3:45 p.m.

Based on Alex Kershaw's book, "The Liberator" is a character-driven action miniseries based on the true story of World War II infantry commander Felix "Shotgun" Sparks (played by Bradley James), who led the members of the 157th Infantry Regiment of the 45th Infantry Division, an integrated group of white cowboys, Mexican Americans and Native soldiers drawn from across the west. Sparks and his battalion of "Thunderbirds" were classic citizen soldiers, and for over 500 days they led a special group of American soldiers from Italy to France to the liberation of the Dachau concentration camp, through some of the most grueling battles of the war, becoming one of the most decorated American combat units of World War I

His first book, The Ethics of Obscene Speech in Early Christianity and Its Environment (Brill 2008), examined early Christian rhetoric about foul language in the broader context of ancient discussions about the nature and propriety of speech. Work on that book prompted an ongoing interest in the ways that gender, status, and ethnicity figure in ancient discussions of speech, and the way that social realities are revealed—and shaped—by discourse about how to talk. In 2010, Dr. Hultin co-founded a new Society of Biblical Literature Unit called "Speech and Talk in the Ancient Mediterranean World," which has brought together scholars from various disciplines. Dr. Hultin has also completed a translation (with notes) for a bi-lingual edition of Hippolytus's Commentary on Daniel, which will be published in SBL's Writings from the Greco-Roman World series. Hippolytus's Commentary is of special interest, as it is the earliest surviving Christian commentary on a book of the Hebrew Bible; furthermore, it is a valuable source of information about Christian practice and belief at the turn of the third century.

Judson Newbern's artistic motivation is the lifelong pursuit of expanding skill sets for capturing inspiring subject matter. I believe that quality design from a small painting to configuring large land-scape spaces requires mastery of similar fundamentals—only the materials and parameters change. As a landscape architect, I oversaw the design and planning of the Vanderbilt University campus for 30 years, learning a great deal about space and composition. Having begun watercolor lessons at age 10 on the Outer Banks of NC, I expanded into oils and acrylics in college. Maintaining the practice of painting complemented working in a design field and allowed me to return my focus to art several years ago. Serving on the board of a plein air painting group in Nashville inspired watercolors to become a focus as they can quickly capture the changing images drawn from Nature. Painting is quite rewarding if you enjoy it on your own level and don't worry about what anyone else is doing! Week 1, John Gaddis Watercolor Workshop Fund

The students at the Sewanee Summer Music Festival come from around the country and are excited to have the opportunity to perform their chamber music for the audience at the Monteagle Sunday School Assembly. Students at SSMF range from early high school all the way to doctoral school in their studies of music. Student ensembles are assigned at the SSMF and often the chamber groups you will hear have only been rehearsing for a week or two. We hope you enjoy hearing their hard work pay off at their Assembly concerts! For more information about the full schedule of SSMF concerts in Sewanee this summer, see www.ssmf.sewanee.edu.

Tracy Acoustic Band, which does not always include the same musicians, follows the pattern of most Appalachian bands. Folks would gather for a threshing, a wedding, a barn-raising, or perhaps even a funeral, and whoever showed up would form a spontaneous "band." Sometimes these musicians would have never played with each other, but just as often would have played together for many years, sometimes even generations. Inevitably these casual groups over-lapped, and this gave rise to interesting cross-pollinations of musical styles. So, while the basic tunes may have been known throughout an area, the spontaneous improvisation would always be fresh and new. This is what has kept this music alive and what you hear when Tracy City Jam Band plays together in Monteagle. The band members feel that if they were to make this music polished and commercial, it would lose its appeal. Week 4 performance, Cross Music Fund

Nashville native Bea Troxel started writing songs in the tenth grade about bad haircuts. In high school, she played in a band called, Bea, Rita, and Maeve named Best High School Band of 2013 by Nashville Scene. The trio won Studio 360's High School Battle of the Bands contest performing Bea's song The River. Andrew W.K. and Thao Nguyen covered their performance and Nguyen wrote that there was a "subtlety and refinement in the musicianship." Troxel played through her years in Sewanee but a move to Pennsylvania brought new opportunities to open for musicians such as Glenn Jones, Laura Baird, and Sons of an Illustrious Father. She organized her first tour in 2017, and after returning to Nashville, released her debut album, The Way That it Feels. The album has inspired another tour and other appearances. Including showcase artist at SXSW 2018. She will be performing songs from this album as well as new songs written in the last year.
